The strategy for beating 6-max cash games stays consistent across formats, whether you play at the Zoom tables or regular 8 tables.

However, there are differences and reasons for choosing one over the other, depending on your preferences and circumstances.

Here,

we'll break 8 down what advantages and disadvantages these two formats have, so that you can make an informed decision as to which 8 cash game tables are best for you.

The first point to make is that you shouldn't change your poker strategy when 8 playing Zoom tables. You're still playing 6-max No Limit Hold'em cash, and nothing has changed about the way that the 8 game is played.

Obviously, there might be population tendencies at Zoom tables that may require different exploits than at regular cash 8 tables, but your default strategy shouldn't change much from format to format. Stick to what you're good at and play 8 your default strategy, just like you should when shot-taking at a higher stake.

Game selection is the first big difference between 8 Zoom and regular tables. On regular tables you have the ability to table select and browse lobbies until you find 8 a game with weaker players in that you feel you have an edge on.

With Zoom tables, your opponents change every 8 single hand and it's impossible to know exactly who you're up against. Furthermore, you won't have the option to choose 8 where you sit.

At a regular cash game table, you might be able to seat select so that you have weaker 8 players on your right and the stronger players on your left. Table selecting and seat selecting will naturally result in 8 a slightly higher win rate, so in this aspect regular cash tables have the advantage.

While you might have a slightly 8 lower win rate at Zoom tables as you can't game select, you'll also be able to play a ton more 8 hands due to the fast-paced nature of the Zoom format.

Faster action means a higher hourly since you're able to see 8 more hands per hour. So, while your win rate might be lower at the Zoom tables, your hourly rate may 8 in fact be higher due to the speed at which Zoom tables progress.

At the end of the day, it all 8 comes down to what works best for you.

The Zoom format is great if you only have a half hour or 8 so to play and want to get a little session in. If you're playing for 6-8 hours, looking for a 8 regular cash game table full of recreationals to exploit might be the better decision. You can also mix and match, 8 playing Zoom tables when you've only got a little time and saving the regular tables for longer sessions.

The Zoom format 8 is also a great way to improve faster as a poker player since you're playing against tougher opponents and you 8 can play far more hands in an hour than you can at a regular table.

Over time, the experience you gain 8 from playing a ton of hands versus stronger competition will hone your skills, especially if you're breaking down your sessions 8 and putting in the necessary study off the felt.
