Totals Betting For Beginners

Punters often enjoy placing different bets on their favourite sports.

Experienced players know that the most widely used 9 and most popular types of bets are moneyline (when you bet on a specific team to win) and point spread 9 (where you place wagers on a team winning by a specific number of points or goals). However, another commonly used 9 type of wager is Totals.

By the end of this guide, you'll know precisely how totals betting works and how to 9 place these bets on your own.

Let's take a look.

What is the total or over/under in betting?

A total bet is simple; 9 it's a bet on the overall result on any match or event. This can be used in football, tennis, basketball, 9 and many other sports. With totals bets, it doesn't matter who wins, it only matters what the overall score is, 9 or more specifically, the total score in the game.

In most cases, a bookie will allow you to place either a 9 Total Under bet (TU) or a Total Over (TO) bet. Because of this, a totals wager is often called an 9 over/under bet as well. The names are interchangeable, and they signify the same thing. For that reason, we'll use both 9 names throughout the article.

Whichever name you wish to use, the bet is the same — you need to wager on 9 a total score being over or under a specific number.

Let's look at this example from the 888sport betting site:

In this 9 English Premier League football match between Chelsea and Everton, you must predict whether the total number of goals will be 9 higher or lower than 1.5.

If two or more goals are scored, the "over" bet wins, regardless of who wins the 9 match or whether it ends in a draw.

If you bet on "under", you will need only one or none goals 9 to be scored in order to win the bet.

For the "over" bet, the bookmaker sets the odds to be 1.20. 9 For example, if Chelsea wins 3-1, that would mean that there are four goals scored in total. Therefore, the "over" 9 bet would be the winning one.

If you place a £100 wager on this outcome, it would result in a win 9 of £120 (1.20 multiplier x £100 wager) and bring you a profit of £20.

Another case would be the "under" bet, 9 where the bookmaker sets the odds of 4.33. For example, if Chelsea wins 1-0, that would mean that there is 9 one goal scored in total. Or, if there is a draw of 0-0, that would still make the “under” bet 9 to be the winning one, since the total goals scored are less than 1.5.

If you place a £100 wager on 9 this outcome, it would result in a win of £433 (4.33 multiplier x £100 wager) and earn you a profit 9 of £333.

Totals are the easiest to understand in football, as the scoring system is simple. In other sports, it can 9 be a bit more complicated. However, as long as you know the sport, you’ll understand how Totals work and increase 9 your odds of winning.

For example, in tennis, there can be more than a single over/under bet. However, the most popular 9 is a total bet on games in a match. Here is an example from the 10bet betting site:

So, if you 9 were to place a 21.5 “under” bet on a match, it means that the total number of games will have 9 to be 21 or below. If the match ends with a score of 2:1 in sets (6:1, 2:6, 6:0), you 9 will have won the bet. That’s because the total score is $6+1+2+6+6+0=21$.

In this case, if you place a £100 wager 9 on this “under” bet, it would result in a win of £183 (1.83 multiplier x £100 wager) and earn you 9 a profit of £83.

Different bookies (such as Betition, Betfred, or Betfair) might represent the bet differently, or they might offer 9 several types of over/under bets. However, the main point is always the same — you’re betting on the total score 9 or something else being either over or under a specific number.

Other forms of totals bets

Most people prefer standard Totals bets 9 where you can bet on the total score in the match.

However, there are many other forms of Totals bets 9 as well. For instance, if you love golf, you can bet on the total number of bogeys in a single 9 round of a tournament.

Naturally, you can do a similar thing in football, and you don’t even have to bet on 9 the score of the game. You could bet over/under the number of corner kicks, the number of yellow cards in 9 that same game, or something else.

Here is an example for the total over/under number of corner kicks by the Unibet 9 betting site with different odds:

As you can see, it’s clear that Totals bets are quite diverse. The main point, as 9 we’ve said, is that there is the option for you to bet over/under a specific number, and that number can 9 be the goals, points, bogeys, corner kicks, or anything else that the statistics of the game follow. The choice is 9 there, and it’s up to you to decide what you wish to wager your money on.

How do you bet with 9 total points?

As you can see, betting on Totals is quite simple. It’s always about betting on a total score or 9 the total points in a match being over or under a specific number. The bookie that you’ve chosen will likely 9 provide several options with exact odds, and all you need to do is select the one that you think will 9 be most likely to happen based on your knowledge of the sport, the match at hand, and the odds themselves.

The 9 act of betting on any given platform is quite simple, and it works in the same manner as all other 9 bets. However, bear in mind that the bets are not shown in the same form for all sports. For example, in 9 sports such as football, where the score total is usually a very low number, you’ll primarily see bets in the 9 range of 1.5, 2.5, 3.5, and the like. On the other hand, in sports like basketball, Totals can be much 9 higher.

Here is an example of a basketball match presented by MansionBet where you can see that Totals is set at 9 210.5. This means that the total score in the game needs to be over 210 or under 210 points.

Since the 9 actual betting is quite straightforward, you need to consider things that aren’t. Totals, like all other bets, have specific numbers 9 that are more likely to occur, while others are almost useless for punters.

A bookie will often offer sucker bets that 9 are there to take your money, and you need to make sure that you avoid them. It’s important to know 9 the sport, and what is likely to occur in the match that you’re betting on. You can focus on the 9 odds, but then you’ll likely fall for some of these sucker bets, because bookies can easily adjust odds to look 9 better to punters, while the actual thing that you’re betting on is unlikely to occur.

Conclusion

As you can see, Totals are 9 fairly straightforward bets. They are easy to learn and master. You don't have to favour a specific team, and you 9 don't have to think about a wide variety of possibilities. You only need to focus on the total score of 9 the game or some other point total, and wager on it being over or under a specific number.

The whole point 9 is knowing the sport that you're betting on and understanding what the most common score totals are in that sport. 9 If you are a fan of a specific sport, Totals bets might be the way to go for you. We 9 hope that this guide will help you to understand them better so that you can start using Totals when betting 9 on your favourite betting site.

Comecei a analisar as odds e, de acordo com a plataforma, o candidato do PT, Lula, era o favorito para se tornar o próximo presidente dos EUA, com uma odd de 1.57. Com essa informação, resolvi investir um pouco de dinheiro e fiz uma aposta simples pelo Lula.

Depois de alguns dias, tive a surpresa de ver meus ganhos aumentando e, quando as eleições foram confirmadas, consegui realizar uma boa realização financeira. A partir de então, passei a investir mais tempo e dinheiro nas apostas esportivas e políticas do site Sportingbet, sempre analisando as melhores odds e escolhas.

Em relação à confiabilidade da Sportingbet, tenho uma opinião bastante positiva. O site é seguro, oferece várias opções de pagamento e retirada de dinheiro, e tem um centro de ajuda bastante eficaz. Outra vantagem é a variedade de esportes e eventos disponíveis, desde as principais ligas de futebol até políticas e eventos especiais.

Eu sempre recomendo a Sportingbet para os meus amigos e conhecidos que querem investir no mundo das apostas online.
