Poker Dome Challenge Gameplay in the Poker Dome Also known as MANSIONPoker Poker Dome Challenge Country of origin United States No. of seasons 1 No. of episodes 43 Production Running time 2 hours Original release Network Fox Sports Net

The MANSIONPoker Poker Dome Challenge was a 43-week series of speed poker tournaments offering a grand prize of US$1,000,000. The tournament aired in the United States on Fox Sports Network from May 2006 to March 2007. The tournament featured a number of technological gimmicks in an effort to increase viewer interest and excitement. Commentating duties were shared by rotating hosts including Barry Tompkins, Jon Kelley, Michael Konik, Michael Gracz, Joel Meyers and Chris Rose with Leeann Tweeden serving as co-host/exit interviewer (occasionally covered by Nafeesa DeFlorias). Matt Savage was the tournament director.

The series consisted of single table tournaments of six players each. Five of the six competitors qualified through daily freeroll tournaments held at mansionpoker. Another competitor came from the National Pub Poker League, an amateur poker league that partnered with MansionPoker and qualified its nightly bar tournament winners into a private weekly freeroll.[1][2] Winners of the online qualifiers were flown all expenses paid to Las Vegas, Nevada and receivedR$500 in casino chips and other amenities.

Professional poker players Tony G, Dennis Waterman and Perry Friedman and reality television personality-turned poker pro Rob Mariano have appeared in the Dome. Nevada casino author Al W Moe appeared in the Dome and his wife, Shannon R Moe, was an alternate selection a month later.

Players started with 50,000 in tournament chips and play continued until one player had all 300,000. The tournament was single-elimination and only the winner of each table received prize money. Players had just 15 seconds to act on a hand before it was ruled dead. Each player was given one 30-second time extension that could be used at any time. When the table got to heads-up, each player received another 30-second time extension (although if a player hadn't previously used the extension he or she did not then have two). Betting was pot-limit pre-flop and no-limit post-flop until heads-up play, when it became all no-limit.

Each preliminary winner pocketedR$25,000 in cash and advanced to the semi-finals. After each set of six preliminary tournaments, a semi-final single table tournament was played among the six winners, with the winner of that table takingR$50,000 and advancing to the final table. After the six semi-final matches were played, the finalists played one more single table tournament for theR$1,000,000 winner-take-all grand prize. Each of the other finalists won a prize package from Mansion Poker worthR$13,000.

The Poker Dome [ edit ]

Tournaments were played in front of a live audience in a structure called The Poker Dome. The audience couldn't be seen or heard by the players and players were screened before entering the Dome to ensure they were unable to communicate with anyone outside the Dome. The high tech table featured an LED display for the dealer button, hole card cameras, automatic card reading technology (described on-screen as "computer chips," possibly passive RFID tags) and built in LED hand timers. Two dealers worked the tournaments to maintain the fast pace, and players were attached to heart monitors. Players' hole cards and heart rates were displayed for the live audience and in particularly stressful situations like all in bets, heart rates were displayed to the home audience.

The Tropicana Resort & Casino hosted the first eight Round 1 preliminaries and the first Round 2 playoff prior to the completion of construction at the Neonopolis, where a top-floor movie theatre was reworked into the Poker Dome set. Eventual Poker Dome Challenge winner Rodel Tuazon won the first preliminary held in the Neonopolis studio, in an episode also featuring Tony G.

Estados Unidos enfatiza la importancia de la cooperación en materia migratoria con América Latina

El secretario de Estado de Estados Unidos, Antony J. Blinken, se reunirá con funcionarios sénior de América Latina en Guatemala el martes, como parte de la iniciativa de la administración Biden de exhortar a los países de la región a reforzar el control de sus fronteras y expandir las vías legales para migrar.

El presidente Biden se ha enfrentado a críticas por su manejo de la situación en la frontera sur, y el asunto es una preocupación clave para muchos votantes en las elecciones presidenciales de este año. Los funcionarios estadounidenses han recurrido cada vez más en los últimos años a asociaciones internacionales para ayudarlos a controlar grandes cantidades de migrantes antes de que lleguen a la frontera sur.

Estados Unidos confía en gran medida en México, su socio más cercano en materia migratoria, para controlar el flujo de personas dirigidas a la frontera sur. A fines de diciembre, el Sr. Blinken y Alejandro N. Mayorkas, el Secretario de Seguridad Nacional, visitaron México para discutir un mayor control en un mes en el que los agentes de la Patrulla Fronteriza de EE. UU. tuvieron encuentros con más de 250,000 migrantes. En algunos días de diciembre, se realizaron más de 10,000 detenciones.

Desde entonces, el número de migrantes que llegan a la frontera sur ha disminuido drásticamente. En febrero, los agentes realizaron alrededor de 140,000 detenciones. En marzo, hubo más de 137,000 detenciones, y se espera que la cifra de abril sea aún más baja, alrededor de 129,000, según una persona familiarizada con las estadísticas que habló bajo condición de anonimato para discutir cifras no finalizadas todavía.

La tendencia a la baja en los números de la frontera podría ayudar a Biden a argumentar que está tomando en serio la seguridad fronteriza.

La reunión del martes se enmarca en conversaciones continuas conectadas con la Declaración de Los Ángeles, un acuerdo de 2024 firmado por Estados Unidos, México, Guatemala, Brasil y otros países. El acuerdo estipula que cada país es responsable de asegurar sus fronteras y que los países promoverán nuevos esfuerzos de migración legal.
