American TV series or program

Poker Dome Challenge Gameplay in the Poker Dome Also known as MANSIONPoker Poker Dome Challenge Country of origin United States No. of seasons 1 No. of episodes 43 Production Running time 2 hours Original release Network Fox Sports Net

The MANSIONPoker Poker Dome Challenge was a 43-week series of speed poker tournaments offering a grand prize of US$1,000,000. The tournament aired in the United States on Fox Sports Network from May 2006 to March 2007. The tournament featured a number of technological gimmicks in an effort to increase viewer interest and excitement. Commentating duties were shared by rotating hosts including Barry Tompkins, Jon Kelley, Michael Konik, Michael Gracz, Joel Meyers and Chris Rose with Leeann Tweeden serving as co-host/exit interviewer (occasionally covered by Nafeesa DeFlorias). Matt Savage was the tournament director.

The series consisted of single table tournaments of six players each. Five of the six competitors qualified through daily freeroll tournaments held at mansionpoker. Another competitor came from the National Pub Poker League, an amateur poker league that partnered with MansionPoker and qualified its nightly bar tournament winners into a private weekly freeroll.[1][2] Winners of the online qualifiers were flown all expenses paid to Las Vegas, Nevada and received R$500 in casino chips and other amenities.

Professional poker players Tony G, Dennis Waterman and Perry Friedman and reality television personality-turned poker pro Rob Mariano have appeared in the Dome. Nevada casino author Al W Moe appeared in the Dome and his wife, Shannon R Moe, was an alternate selection a month later.

Players started with 50,000 in tournament chips and play continued until one player had all 300,000. The tournament was single-elimination and only the winner of each table received prize money. Players had just 15 seconds to act on a hand before it was ruled dead. Each player was given one 30-second time extension that could be used at any time. When the table got to heads-up, each player received another 30-second time extension (although if a player hadn't previously used the extension he or she did not then have two). Betting was pot-limit pre-flop and no-limit post-flop until heads-up play, when it became all no-limit.

Each preliminary winner pocketed R$25,000 in cash and advanced to the semi-finals. After each set of six preliminary tournaments, a semi-final single table tournament was played among the six winners, with the winner of that table taking R$50,000 and advancing to the final table. After the six semi-final matches were played, the finalists played one more single table tournament for theR$1,000,000 winner-take-all grand prize. Each of the other finalists won a prize package from Mansion Poker worthR$13,000.

The Poker Dome [edit]

Tournaments were played in front of a live audience in a structure called The Poker Dome. The audience couldn't be seen or heard by the players and players were screened before entering the Dome to ensure they were unable to communicate with anyone outside the Dome. The high tech table featured an LED display for the dealer button, hole card cameras, automatic card reading technology (described on-screen as "computer chips," possibly passive RFID tags) and built in LED hand timers. Two dealers worked the tournaments to maintain the fast pace, and players were attached to heart monitors. Players' hole cards and heart rates were displayed for the live audience and in particularly stressful situations like all in bets, heart rates were displayed to the home audience.

The Tropicana Resort & Casino hosted the first eight Round 1 preliminaries and the first Round 2 playoff prior to the completion of construction at the Neonopolis, where a top-floor movie theatre was reworked into the Poker Dome set. Eventual Poker Dome Challenge winner Rodel Tuazon won the first preliminary held in the Neonopolis studio, in an episode also featuring Tony G.

World Pro-Am Challenge [edit]

On July 12, 2006, The Poker Dome played host to the World Pro-Am Challenge, with a US$1,000,000 prize pool. Three professional players were pitted against three amateur online qualifiers, who had access to three other pros for coaching. The top three spots paid, and if an amateur cashed the prize money would be split with the coach. Each amateur started withR$20,000 more in chips than the pros and each amateur/coach team was allowed two time outs, one called by the player and one by the coach.

Desde la última elección general, hemos pasado por tres primeros ministros, cambiado de monarcas y visto un número récord de renuncias escandalosas del gabinete. Pero al menos una cosa seguirá igual. Tom Bradby volverá a presentar la cobertura de la noche electoral de ITV, acompañado una vez más por George Osborne y Ed Balls.

La comodidad de la familiaridad, pero tal vez no para Bradby y los suyos. Al hablar con Radio Times sobre la cobertura, sugirió que quizás, en términos de su carrera, debería estar nervioso porque "no hay muchos presentadores de noticias blancos y masculinos".

¿Cómo reaccionar a eso? Como el hombre que encabeza la cobertura electoral con Osborne y Balls, junto con Nicola Sturgeon, sugerir que existe una amenaza existencial para los hombres blancos en el periodismo de transmisión se siente como una escena eliminada de Anchorman.

Bradby es indudablemente un excelente y experimentado periodista, pero aquí parece ciego a la realidad de sus circunstancias. Los hombres blancos representan aproximadamente el 40% de la población en Inglaterra y Gales; regresar a los viejos días en los que constituían la abrumadora mayoría de los presentadores de noticias socavaría la ya frágil confianza en las instituciones de los medios. En una era de desinformación masiva, ver una mayor diversidad de la población liderando nuestra cobertura de noticias implica una méritocracia y un periodismo que examina al menos algunas de sus propias prácticas. Incluso si la realidad es que el compañero electoral de Bradby, Osborne, fue capaz de fracasar hacia arriba en la edición y agregó a la declinación del Evening Standard, que dejará de comerciar en papel impreso en breve.

No hay una escasez desesperada de hombres blancos detrás de los escritorios de ITV News. Actualmente, parece que hay siete hombres blancos en su lista de presentadores. Bradby tiene razón en que las cosas han cambiado desde 2024. Pero la promoción de Clive Myrie y Laura Kuenssberg a la cobertura electoral de la no es una señal preocupante de los tiempos: más bien, es una consecuencia directa del escándalo de Huw Edwards que vio al locutor de noticias de la mejor pagado renunciar a la red después de acusaciones controvertidas de que pagó a un adolescente de 17 años por imágenes explícitas, así como acusaciones adicionales de que los colegas de la habían presentado quejas sobre él -sin éxito.

Como especie, puede que no sea tan numerosa ahora, pero el gran presentador de noticias blanco una vez se extendió por la Tierra y -en términos de audiencia- se sentó con Dios. El presentador de noticias estadounidense Walter Cronkite, que cubrió eventos sísmicos como los asesinatos de John F Kennedy y Martin Luther King, y el primer alunizaje, fue famosamente etiquetado como el hombre más confiable de los EE. UU.

Es indudable que las cosas han cambiado drásticamente desde entonces. Muchos millones menos ven boletines informativos principales y una gama más amplia de personas presentan noticias. Bueno para ellos; el talento debe surgir. Pero eso ciertamente no es una ola de despertar: alguna teoría de reemplazo de gran TV blanco.

Las palabras de Bradby podrían explicarse por una mala formulación o tal vez por su respuesta a una pregunta principal, pero la reacción de aquellos que han aprovechado su lamento habla de la paranoia sutil de aquellos que continúan beneficiándose del statu quo, y saben bien cómo seguir haciéndolo.

Un gran presentador de noticias blanco, sentado en un escritorio con dos otros hombres blancos en una elección donde los Tories enfrentan desafíos de Keir Starmer, Ed Davey, John Swinney y Nigel Farage no es prueba de que la cosa de la diversidad se haya salido de control o de que los hombres blancos tengan dificultades para alcanzar posiciones de poder.

No podemos saber el futuro para el presentador de noticias blanco. Asumimos que siempre estarán allí, en canales principales, en cable, en YouTube, pero nadie cuenta los números, David Attenborough no los filma. Sobreviven con sus ingenios y los ingenios de sus agentes negociadores.

Bradby, a pesar de sus gazapos insidiosos, parece uno de los buenos y como miembro destacado de una raza en declive, es probable que sus servicios sean requeridos durante un tiempo más.

La próxima elección puede estar lejos en el futuro, pero quién sabe? En vista de las pruebas del pasado reciente, pueden continuar llegando tan a menudo como una nueva serie de Strictly.

Tanto noticias, tanto Autocue, tantos escritorios brillantes: podríamos necesitar tantos y tan diversos grupos de presentadores de TV como podamos obtener.
